

Artist's 'Current Works' shown

Marcia Shottenkirk • Published: October 6, 2000 •

Oil pastel David J. Holland will open a show of his most recent projects at a reception from 6 to 8 p.m. today at Individual Artists of Oklahoma, 1 N Hudson.

ADVERTISEMENT

"Current Works" is a compilation of 12 new pieces that Holland describes as examples of the effects of changes on the world's inhabitants.

"I try to present one of those changes as a visual idea that uses real images rendered in a childlike or simplistic way," he said.

The exhibit will continue through Oct. 28. For more information, call 232-6060.

Metal sculptures displayed

Ron Ferrell will exhibit his recent metal sculptures at Individual Artists of Oklahoma, 1 N Hudson, through Oct. 28.

Incorporated in the rusted metal constructions will be ammonites, fossilized sea creatures unique to the region and valuable in their own right to collectors because of their age - 500 million years old.

For more information, call 232-6060.

Gallery hosts gay, lesbian art show

Twelve artists' works, representing 22 pieces of art, will be on display in the second annual OUTART Gay and Lesbian Juried Art Show at Individual Artists of Oklahoma, 1 N Hudson.

The show opens today with a reception from 6 to 8 p.m. It will continue through Oct. 28.

Four artists were chosen for Juror Choice Awards. They are Clayton Keyes, David Cockerell, Joe Dale Tate Nevaquaya and Mark Maxey.

For more information, call 232-6060.

Student works shown

EDMOND - Various art pieces entered in the University of Central Oklahoma's annual Art and Design Juried Student Show are on display in the Central Museum of Art and Design, 100 N University.

The exhibit gives art students and the general public an opportunity to review the range and diversity of creative achievements by students in University of Central Oklahoma's art programs.

Students have entered works in 16 media categories.

Employment Opportunities

Work Services Corporation

Oklahoma Environmental Management Authority

Tinker Federal Credit Union

Big Wing Interactive

See All Ads

The show will continue through Oct. 22.

For more information, call 974-5209.

Out-of-the-ordinary show

Adam Stewart will present his new work on various objects at a reception from 4:30 to 7 p.m. today at the University Gallery at Oklahoma Christian University, 2501 E Memorial.

To be shown are paintings on compact disc, canvas, paper, sheet metal, light bulb and railroad spike. Also on display will be a sampling of his sketchbook work.

The exhibition continues through Oct. 26.

For more information, call 425-5556.

Basketweaver to demonstrate

Mary Stone has spent her life learning the weaving techniques of her Cherokee tribal elders.

From 10:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Saturday, she will share her method and her craft with others at the Bricktown Art Gallery, in the Mercantile Building at the corner of Main Street and Oklahoma Avenue.

For more information, call 232-4278.

Faculty show on exhibit

EDMOND - The Donna Nigh Gallery at the University of Central Oklahoma, 100 N University, is now displaying "A Proud Tradition VIII: Art by Alumni, Art Faculty and Retired Faculty."

Dean Hyde and Woody Gaddis are the featured artists. A reception will be from 4:30 to 6 p.m. Nov. 3.

The exhibit will conclude Nov. 5.

For more information, call 974-2432.

Pottery, paintings on display

Pottery by Marilyn Hooser and paintings by Ann Shaw are featured through Nov. 1 at the Contemporary Art Gallery, 7204 N Western.

Hooser calls her work "functional art," while Shaw's acrylics are abstract with "a bit of reality."

For more information, call 843-4118.

Aspiring artists featured

"New Views: Brandi Twilley and Micha Friedman" will give visitors to City Arts Center, 3000 Pershing Blvd., a sneak peek at two young artists, hoping to make their mark on the world.

Twilley, 17, and Friedman, 15, are both students at the Classen School for Advanced Studies. They also have been instructed by artists at City Arts Center.

Twilley's paintings chronicle her life since her home was destroyed by fire.

"My new works have been inspired by my new environment, intense dreams and deal directly with the changes that occurred after the fire...especially what was lost and what was gained."

with the changes that occurred after the fire - especially what was lost and what was gained.

Friedman is becoming known for his large-scale clay sculptures, ranging from geometrical shapes to human busts.

The exhibit opens Thursday with a reception from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. It will continue through Nov. 18.

For more information, call 951-0000.

Art camps offered

City Arts Center, 3000 Pershing Blvd., will offer arts camps for children Oct. 20 and 21, during fall break.

Each day, the children will see a play and create an artwork of their own. Camps are $45 per child and will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. They are for ages 5 to 12.

For more information, call 951-0000. Friend of Picasso to speak in Tulsa

TULSA - Noted Picasso scholar and friend of the artist John Richardson will present his lecture, "Picasso in Italy," at 2 p.m. Oct. 15 at the Walters Art Center at Holland Hall School, 5666 E 81.

Cost of the lecture is $7 for Philbrook Museum of Art members and $9 for nonmembers.

Each ticket includes admission to Philbrook's exhibit "The Triumph of French Painting," on display through Nov. 26.

For more information, call (918) 748-5309.

Contest open to students

Arts and Kids has announced that $38,000 in prizes and scholarships will be awarded this year in its annual art competition.

Beginning students are encouraged to enter the contest by Dec. 31. It is open to students 17 and younger. Entry is free.

To enter, send one original work of art, any style, any medium, to Arts and Kids, Suite 101-2112, 3600 Crondall Lane, Owings Mills, MD 21117.

All entries must include the child's name, address and age on the back.

For more information, call (410) 581-5900 or visit the Web site at www.ArtsandKids.com.

MORE LISTINGS: For additional art-related stories, check out the NOW! section in The Sunday Oklahoman.

Archive ID: 823534